A New Online Tool Highlights Canadian's Experience with Insurers

Wed., March 31, 2021, 6:00 a.m. · 2 min read

TORONTO, March 31, 2021 /CNW/ - As the largest Canadian review platform with thousands of independent reviews for insurance products, InsurEye has been a trusted information source for Canadians for nearly a decade. When InsurEye noticed that during the pandemic more Canadians than ever before buying insurance and financial products online, the company stepped up to help. InsurEye spent most of 2020 and the beginning of 2021 developing a new online analysis tool informing consumers who look for insurance.

InsurEye analyzed the thousands of reviews collected over the last nine years and created a tool that highlights the top positive and negative experiences mentioned in the feedback. This tool is automated – it automatically adjusts based on the most recent reviews; so, if a company's performance improves or declines, consumers know about it in real time.

Review trend functionality shows a summary of the recent positive and negative topics mentioned in the reviews. (CNW Group/Insureye Inc.)

InsurEye's Co-founder Alexey Saltykov said, "It is important to provide Canadians with a concise view of both the key problems and positive testimonials as relates to each company, based on the most recent reviews. These are actual consumer experiences other buyers should know about before purchasing a policy. Some issues revealed include long phone wait times, rude contact centre agents, long claim process, claim denials, and disproportionately high renewal rates."

The assessment tool is free and easily accessible to all Canadians looking for car insurance reviews, home insurance reviews, life insurance reviews. Soon, it will

InsurEye's Co-founder and CTO, Dmitry Mityagin said, "In an age of disinformation, having a trusted, reliable online source to inform your decisions about insurance and financial products is vitally important for all Canadians. In addition to our new analysis tool, we also spent time revamping our existing platform, making it even more convenient to use across any device – and that's not all. Along with reviews for home, auto, life insurance, credit cards and mortgages, our platform now includes reviews for disability insurance, critical illness insurance, health insurance, group benefits, and travel insurance."
